DETAILED ACTION

The request filed on 01/09/03 for a Request Continued Examination (RCE) under 37 CFR 1.114 based on parent Application No. 09/841,032 is acceptable and a RCE has been established. An action on the RCE follows.

Claim Objections

1. Claims 1 and 21 are objected to because of the following informalities:
Claims 1, line 15, and claim 21, line 19, change "can be" to --being-- Appropriate correction is required.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

2. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.
3. Claims 1-4, 13-16, 21-22, and 24-26 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

Regarding claims 1 and 21, it is unclear. The phrase of "whereby the first...such that the edge engagement member and the edge engagement member...second edges" is not understood. The first adjustment being adjusted a support rack by a first distance or by a horizontal axis, and the first adjustment does not support to the edge engagement member at all.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

4. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

5. Claims 5, 9-10, and 23 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Chatel (U. S. Patent 5,506,751) in view of Sittig (submitted by applicant).

As to claims 5, and 9-10, Chatel discloses a circuit board (14) having first and second edges and a support rack as shown in figures 1-6 comprising:

a frame (column 5, line 9);

a board engagement platform (32-figure 2, column 5, lines 44-45) mounted with respect to the frame and engaging the first edge;

a board retention member (16, column 5, line 16) spaced from the engagement platform by a first distance; and a first adjustment mechanism (12; 13, column 5, line 6) capable of adjusting the first distance co-acting with the frame and the retention member, and maintaining the first distance.

Chatel does not teach a second adjustment mechanism on the board retention member and engaging the second edge; and wherein the platform and the second adjustment mechanism exert compressive force on the board.

Sittig shows a card rack (column 2, line 9) disclosed in figures 1-3 having a second adjustment mechanism (22) on the retention member (12), the second adjustment mechanism being engaged the second edge, the platform and the second adjustment mechanism exert compressive force on a board.

It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to have a second adjustment mechanism on the retention member as taught by Sittig to employ the support rack of Chatel in order to apply mounting forces which are tightly controlled and visibly inspectable without disturbing the other circuit board being held.

Claim 23 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Chatel in view of Sittig and further in view of Wetzel et al. (submitted by applicant).

As to claim 23, Chatel and Sittig disclose all of the limitations of the claimed invention, except for a vibration table having a plurality of openings.

Wetzel shows a vibration table (10-figure 1) having a plurality of openings (49-figure 1).

It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to use a vibration table structure as taught by Wetzel to employ the support rack of Chatel and Sittig in order to provide a simultaneous vibration, thermal stress, and flexible to resist cracking.

Allowable Subject Matter

6. Claims 1-4, 13-16, 21-22, and 24-26 would be allowable if rewritten or amended to overcome the rejection(s) under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, set forth in this Office action.

7. Claims 6-8 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

Response to Arguments

8. Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 1-10, 13-16, and 21-26 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.
